Our First 'Folk at the Landing' Music Festival

IT MAY HAVE BEEN OUR FIRST, but it surely won't be the last! The First Annual 'Folk at the Landing' Music Festival marked the finale of a terrific week of this year's 'Algoma Trad' family music camp. This year saw the popular music camp move from its former home on the F&G Line right into and amongst the community of Richards Landing.

Of course, there were many logistical problems arising – to be expected when you move this many events and people into a completely new and decentralized venue - but each glitch was overcome. Classes and workshops were held in various locations in town, including the Old Town Hall, the Central School, the Legion hall and lounge and several tents set up at the Township of St. Joseph Centennial Grounds, which also served as the camp site for several of the participants. Some of the instructors were taken in by kindly townfolk, who gave them a place to sleep, eat and wash up before or after their long days of teaching and performing. It all got worked out .... and it all worked!

Although the week was filled with fun and memorable events, dances and performances, the crown jewel of it all was Friday night's 'Folk at the Landing' Music Festival, when the instructors and students put on an evening's agenda of living theatre, music and dance! The friendly, upbeat mood of the evening was matched by near-perfect weather for an outdoor music event.

The evening started with a student talent showcase and a performance of an original play "The Rivers Speak" by the Thinking Rock Community Arts group. The pageant picked up and moved from place to place as its story was told, and the audience got up and moved right along with the performers, until its final scene in front of the concert stage, where the rest of the night's performances would take place.

Then it was lively music, interspersed with amazing demonstrations of stepdancing and clogdancing skills as the camp instructors did their thing, with performances by 'Everything Fitz' the Brian Pickell Band, the aptly-named Algoma Trad 'Adhocestra' and, closing it off, the O'Schraives Family Band.

Although plagued from time to time by sound system problems, the night went off beautifully, to the delight of the audience, performers and organizers alike. Even then, there was more to come as the festivities then shifted to a dance at the Legion hall.

Mayor Jody Wildman seemed to be everywhere that night, even selling admittance tickets at the gate. When it was all over, his satisfaction with the whole experience was clearly shown in his smile. "All in all, I think the whole thing went re-

High Performance Fluids & Lubes

We start with Canola oil which naturally has superior lubricity comparable to synthetics, it's naturally better at being slippery than petroleum oils, which has no lubricity when it comes out of the ground. Petroleum oils get their oily characteristics from chemical additives. The veggie alternative has other benefits too. Absolutely no cancer causing carcinogens associate with petroleum based lubricants. It's also Biodegradable, Environmentally Friendly, Non-Toxic, completely Renewable and it has a very high flashpoint making it virtually non-flammable in its liquid state therefore safer to handle and work with.

ally well, for everyone. The [Centennial] grounds and the other in-town locations provided an excellent venue for an event like this and the camp week was good for local restaurants and shops as well. I hope that the organizers will want to do this again next year!”

After their whirlwind of activity for the past month, maybe we should give our surely-exhausted Algoma Trad founders Pat O’Gorman and Julie Schryer a day or two to relax and think about that!

Horticultural Society Flower & Vegetable Exhibition

By Carol Smith

“MARY, MARY, QUITE CONTRARY, how does your garden grow?” For many gardens this year, things did not do very well! However you would never know it from the 387 entries (up from 333 in 2014) at the Horticultural Society’s Flower & Vegetable Exhibition on Saturday, August 22, 2015. A slight drop in the number of entrants from 21 to 18 did not hurt the beautiful displays of flowers and vegetables at the Hilton Community Hall.

Competing with fellow gardeners can get downright “dirty.” Who has the biggest cabbage, the reddest tomato or the perfect bloom in an arrangement determines who gets First, Second and Third Place Ribbons. It takes the Accredited Judges over 2 hours to assign the designations based on specific criteria laid out by the Ontario Horticultural Society.

Although Lloyd Betts took first place with his gigantic Savoy Cabbage (which weighed 5.22 kilograms! Oh the cabbage rolls that could be made!) where one finds vegetables there will also be flowers. Ruth Stevens’ unique Cosmos arrangement received a ribbon. Two young ladies with “green thumbs” - Juniper Adams and Georgia Burns - wowed visitors with their entries in the children’s categories. Most roses came and went this season so the the “Best of Show Rose” was finally found in a miniature arrangement! There were even flowers in cream & sugar bowls plus one arrangement specifically not favoured by deer created by Sandie Leith. The “Judge’s Choice Ribbon” went to a beautiful orchid entered by Grant Adcock.

Congratulations to all the members who shared their home grown treasures and creative arrangements. The Exhibition is

JUST A LITTLE UPDATE on our Round Robin Tournament last Saturday, A good time was had by all and the weather could not have been better. We had 18 participants. The always on the fourth Saturday in August so mark your calendar for next year on August 27, 2016. Let's see if we can get over 400 entries! Join the Hort Society today for only $5 to learn how.

Thanks to all the volunteers and friends who put the Exhibition together. Many hands make light work but there are always those members who put in the extra time before, during and after the Exhibition - especially our humble Master Gardener Maria Smith, who plays a fundamental role in our Island Horticultural Society.

Plowing Was in His Blood

By Donna Schell

A HEAVY CLOUD OF SORROW on a hot summer day fell on competitors of the 81st Annual St. Joseph Island plow match as plowers began arriving to the field early Saturday morning.

Glenn Underhill, a dedicated member of the St. Joseph Island Plowmen's Association had passed away (Aug. 14) at London University Hospital after a lengthy illness just 12-hours prior to the draw of lands and the start of the day-long competition.

Underhill is described as, a gentleman on and off the field, and a champion of champions devoting much of his life to the association and the annual plowing match. Underhill could often be seen examining his land during competition, concentrating on every furrow of earth turned. Quiet in nature, yet approachable, Underhill was willing to lend a hand or advice to anyone who sought it. "It (plowing) was in his blood," said Glenn's wife, Cindy.

Despite his illness in recent years, Underhill drove his International Tractor to a farmer or a portion of a land owner's field competing against men and women many he'd known and competed against for decades. Underhill walked away with numerous trophies over the years from his respective class trophy to the Best Plowed Land in the Field, the highest award a plower can achieve.

Underhill's first recorded win came in 1966 competing in the Junior Boys Class. He was also recognized over years for the highest points achieved in special categories such as the Best Ins and Outs, Best finish, Best crown or the Straightest furrow.

Underhill first drove tractor at the age of five while growing up on the family farm. Third generation competitor, Underhill entered his first plowing match in 1959, at the age of nine.

More Great Music Coming!

EVEN THOUGH SUMMER might be starting to wind down, our supply of entertainment certainly hasn't dwindled one bit! There's still more great music in store for us in the next few days.

This Friday night, August 28th, the Legion Hall in Richards Landing will be rocking to the beat of 'Whiskey Jack,' a seven-piece roots, country, and bluegrass band who have been performing and touring together for over 30 years. Maybe you'd know them better as Stompin' Tom Connors' band, who shared the stage with the country legend when he embarked on his comeback tour after a 13 year hiatus. They were also regulars on the old 'Tommy Hunter Show' back in the 1980s.

Six-time Juno Award winner Stompin' Tom Connors wrote hundreds of songs about the people and places he encountered while travelling across the nation. The towns between Sudbury and the Soo always held a special place in his heart. He spent his early years hitchhiking, looking for work and places to play and sing his songs. He slept in a lot of ditches along that stretch of highway.

The show will allow Tom's fans to experience a different side of his legend. They'll hear hits such as "Sudbury Saturday Night", "Bud the Spud", "The Ketchup Song", "The Hockey Song" and the ever popular "Algoma 69" but also the stories behind them. "And believe me, there are some wild stories" says Bar River native and band member Duncan Fremlin.

He should know. "Each show on the tour was intensely emotional", recalls Duncan. "Tom was this outsider with a guitar who sang about the challenges his audience faced trying to make ends meet every day of their lives. It was never dull when Tom was in the room."

The band will be making a rare appearance here on St. Joe, Friday night at the Legion Hall. Tickets are $22 - available online (<http://bit.ly/1P7w4K7>), by phone (call Jean Rickaby at 705-782-6701), or at Dinelle's Country Market in Echo Bay, 17 East Trading Post, Copper Bay Shell in Bruce Mines and at the door.

THEN, ON WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2ND, the Old Town Hall in Richards Landing will be the venue for a return visit by talented Toronto singer-songwriter Shawna Caspi, as part of the 'Just Passing Through' concert series. She played here last year to rave reviews and a wild reception from a packed house. If you were in the audience for last year's performance, you will definitely remember her! Now, she's 'just passing through' on a year-long Canadian tour, showcasing her latest album "Apartments for Lovers."

In contrast to her first two releases, this CD is a solo guitar/voice album. It's a great showcase for her melodic guitar stylings as well as her crisp, clean voice. You can listen to some of the tracks on Shawna's website at <http://www.shawnacaspi.com/music/apartments-for-lovers-2014/>. She's even included a guitar instrumental, inspired by the Algoma area, called "Aubrey Falls".

She tells us that she will also be bringing along some of her original paintings of landscapes that she sees while out on tour. You can check out her paintings at: <http://tinyurl.com/shawnacaspipaintings>. You might recognize some paintings of the Sault area!

The doors will open at 7 pm, with the show starting at 7:30 pm. Tickets are $10 at the door. For more information, call Amanda at 705 246-2625 or visit <https://www.facebook.com/events/406502439539384/>. You can also find out more about Shawna by visiting www.shawnacaspi.com or <http://twitter.com/shawnacaspi>.

The Plowmen's Association was formed in 1934. At the time Underhill joined, plowing matches were held during the week. An excerpt from, Memories of the St. Joseph Island Plowmen's Association, Underhill found the plowing match a good way of getting out of school.

That first year, Underhill had begun his strike out but instead of watching what he was doing, he admitted watching everyone else plow. His land was somewhat, wavy. Even though he followed through the rest of his land with its unusual appearance, the judge commented on Underhill's consistency.

According to the 1992 book, Underhill had said during an interview with the exception of 1974, he competed to the best of his knowledge in every plowing match since he joined the Plowmen's Association.

For many years, Underhill competed against Perry Coulter in the two furrow Senior Tractor Class. Former President, Perry Coulter spoke highly of his fellow competitor and friend. "Glenn always give it his all," Coulter said adding once he got his tractor and plow, he was hard to beat.

"I don't know very many with more determination, perseverance and dedication to the association than Glenn," Coulter said. "He must have gone through agony and hell in recent years, health wise but you never heard him complain."

There were very few years that Underhill missed staking out the fields as part of field committee duties prior to the match, a position he held since 1976. In 2014, Underhill was elected the association's president.

The plowmen's association paid tribute to their fallen member. A sign and bouquet of flowers stood, marking Lot 1 on Class 1 Senior Tractor Class. The sign read, In Memory of Glenn Underhill Rest In Peace. His perfect furrows will live on.
