Gilbertson's Maple Products

Family and Tradition are more than just words
 – they're a way of life.

IN 1936, A YOUNG MAN named Bernt Gilbertson decided to try his hand at maple syrup production. Little did he know what would come from this decision! Bernt threw himself into his work with a will, starting from scratch, working land he had leased on the Huron Line. A few seasons later, he was able to buy the land, build a log house for his family and later, a building for his syrup production.

As the years went on, he bought more land across the road, for his ever expanding production. His wife and sons – and later, his grandsons too, were right there at his side through it all, making Gilbertson's truly a 'family business'. Today, Gilbertson's Maple Products are the largest producers of maple syrup in Ontario, turning out over 30,000 litres of maple syrup a season. Much of this is sold in bulk to manufacturers, but the 'Gilbertson's' label is also a giant in retail sales.

Maple syrup production involves hard work and long hours. Bernt started out with buckets on the trees, horse-drawn sap collection, and Evaporator pans over an open flame. His sons and grandsons inherited his love for syrup making, and have constantly upgraded the system to utilize the latest in technology, including vacuum pipeline sap removal, reverse osmosis for removing excess water, and the use of compressed steam for the entire evaporation process. Today's syrup production is very much "state of the art", but the Gilbertson family has never lost sight of its long tradition of hard work, diligence and pursuit of excellence. They are keenly aware of the need to blend and balance technology with tradition - and it shows.

Over 40 years ago, with Canada's 1967 Centennial approaching, Bernt suggested that it would be a good family Centennial project to build a Pancake House with an Evaporator room, so that people could come and see the maple syrup being produced, and stay to enjoy it with a meal. His wife Rose, who loved people and seeing them eat, quickly agreed.

Gilbertson's Pancake House opened its doors to the public in 1967. Although small by today's standards (the seating capacity was 35 people) and only open for a few weeks at the peak of the syrup season, Rose and her family quickly made it a success. The word spread, and coming to Gilbertson's for pancakes became a regular spring tradition for families throughout the area, then from across Ontario. As word spread further, it was clear that the Pancake House had to grow and evolve, just like the rest of the business.

The new Pancake House was built 3 years ago to meet the constantly increasing demand from locals and tourists alike. Today's establishment seats 100 people comfortably, and the products available have grown to include Gilbertson's own

"Maple Signature" line of gourmet products that includes salad dressing, barbeque sauce, pancake mix and many more! Yet the setting offers the same inviting, comfortable, warm and welcoming ambience as did the original. A gift shop offers a wide assortment of products - all with a 'maple' theme. Visitors can also enjoy hiking trails or participate in a number of demonstrations and activities.

Although interest and involvement with the Pancake House runs through the entire family, Kerry Gilbertson has managed it for the past 16 years. She clearly loves her work. It comes out in her smile, and in her words: "It's about excellence in service and in our products. We all have a strong sense of Family and Tradition and we set high standards in everything we do. Aside from the maple syrup and terrific food, our customers also come for the warm welcome and the comfortable surroundings. It's simply a really nice place! We want them to stay and linger and enjoy the experience. We want them to feel like part of the family!"

Bernt and Rose's grandsons, Calvin and Brent, along with their wives Kerry and Janet, are part of the third generation of the family in the business. And the fourth generation is coming along too. All of their children and cousins are closely involved in every aspect of the business. "We want to give our kids the opportunity to learn the business from the ground up. Every generation has added something to the business, but our commitment to quality never changes."

And You Thought it was Cold OUTSIDE...!

IF ELAINE PITCHER, RON Gagnon and Mathilde Gravelle Bazinet felt cold and lonely at Monday night's Public Meeting, it certainly wasn't because there was no one to keep them company.

Close to 500 people jammed into the room at the Johnson Township Community Centre, with more listening from the stairs and the downstairs lobby, as Sault Area Hospital and LHIN officials reviewed SAH's financial challenges and highlighted some of the recommendations and actions being taken within the hospital organization to cut or re-allocate costs.

Elaine Pitcher, Chair of the SAH Board of Directors, Ron Gagnon, SAH's Chief Executive Officer, and Mathilde Gravelle Bazinet, Chair of the North East Local Health Integration Network (the Ontario government-established body responsible for overseeing healthcare in this area) were on hand to present the details of SAH's dilemma and to answer questions from the community.

The delegation did a very good job of presenting their case and providing the facts and figures to back it all up, and repeatedly stressing that the actual decision about the hospital's future had not yet been made. The audience, however, clearly wasn't buying it. The recurrent theme running throughout the audience's remarks was that "this isn't about budgets, statistics and financial results. It's about healthcare ... period!"

Laviera Crack and Linda Reynolds shared the challenging task of acting as recording secretaries of the meeting; Laviera by handwritten notes and Linda on a laptop. Detailed "minutes" of the meeting will be available later in the week.

Edith Orr: "A direct assault on rural healthcare ..."

Edith Orr, Mayor of Johnson Township, opened the 'questions' portion of the meeting by eloquently denouncing the entire process as "a direct assault on rural healthcare". She also noted for the record that some of the municipalities affected by the SAH decision had not yet even been directly contacted about the process.

The next 90 minutes featured one speaker from the floor after another – every one of them a well-pointed question or observation, and not always followed by an answer from the panel. Mark Henderson, Reeve of Jocelyn Township pointed out a huge discrepancy in LHIN's healthcare funding: Funding for 20 small communities in the North East sector, with populations below 15,000, averages out to $1,572 per person, while the per capita funding for the areas served by Matthews Memorial Hospital is only $205.

While there may not have been a definitive resolution achieved at the meeting, there was clearly consensus that further dialogue is needed from both sides, as the process continues.

The last word for this part of the program went to St. Joseph Township Mayor Jody Wildman. He thanked the panel for taking part and noted that "budget constraints"

Jody Wildman: "...intractable resistance? Get used to it!"

had encountered "intractable resistance" from local officials, staff and citizens, while conducting their interviews. Mr. Wildman's response: "Intractable resistance? Get used to it!"

Mike Brown, MPP for Algoma-Manitoulin added his own strong support to keeping Matthews Memorial Hospital open, and expressed doubt that a decision to close the hospital would actually be made. He also noted that there is no one from St. Joseph Island on the SAH Board of Directors.

go beyond SAH alone and are a provincial problem. We must therefore work together to resolve the challenge. He also referred back to comments reputedly made by SAH's consultants that they

"It's more than just a job ... Syrup makers are a very special breed. They LOVE what they do, and everyone looks forward to maple syrup season!" smiles Kerry.

That includes their customers too. After more than 40 years, the Pancake House opens its doors to their "regular" visitors from the Island, the Soo and the North Shore, as well as guests from farther afield. Their Guest Book features guests from Wawa, Elliott Lake and Toronto, as well as China, Japan, Finland and Germany. In 2007, the Pancake House was the locale for a special airing of CTV's 'Canada AM' morning show, which was broadcast across Canada.

So what's next for the family business? Kerry just smiles. "We're always looking at how we can improve, and add to the hospitality experience for our visitors. We're always thinking of new recipes we can develop into new products, or offer as specials in the restaurant.

After a long, cold, snowy winter, everyone is looking forward to spring. And what better sign of spring could there be, than Gilbertson's Pancake House getting ready for another season! The whole team is hard at work, preparing for next week's opening. They'll be open for business Monday through Saturday, from 8:00 am to 8:00 pm (Closed Sundays) from March 9 to April 25.

Get those taste buds warmed up!

YOU'RE NEVER TOO OLD or young to improve your health. Ask Andrea Young, RMT, founder of Island Touch Therapeutic Massage. She knows! "My youngest client was 2 months old and the most experienced at life was 95."

Born in the Soo, Andrea spent her childhood summers here on the island at camp and with her grandparents in Richards Landing. After graduating with her BA from the Faculty of Health Sciences from the University of Western Ontario in London, Andrea then enrolled in 3 more years of massage training at Sault College.

After obtaining her RMT designation in the spring of 2001, she moved to the Island full-time, and opened her clinic in the BridgeLink Medical Centre, next to the hospital.

"While it benefits the injured, the ill and the stressed, the real strength of massage therapy lies in prevention." (Ontario Massage Therapy Association).

Seeking to even further broaden her skills, Andrea enrolled for additional training in Deep Tissue techniques, which she completed in January of 2008.

"Hot stone treatments are another specialty that our clinic provides. It's the use of heated stones to manipulate the soft tissue in the body. The heat from the stones allows me to get at deeper tissue sooner with less discomfort to the client.

She also further expanded Island Touch Therapeutic Massage's services to include Reflexology therapy, provided by colleagues Dinah Horner and Debbie Alcock.

Presumably of Chinese origin, dating back to 5000BC, Reflexology involves the use of focused pressure techniques that are usually directed at the feet or hands. It is based on the premise that pressure properly applied to zones or reflexes can affect all muscles, glands and organs throughout the body.

Dinah Horner is a firm believer in what Reflexology can accomplish. In January 2003, her daughter Hannah was diagnosed with Linear Scleroderma, a connective tissue disorder that affects the skin and tissues below the skin. Hannah's pediatric rhumatologist treated her condition with very strong medications. On the advice of a neighbour, Dinah took her daughter to a reflexologist for additional treatment.

"I had no idea what a reflexologist was, but was told that she worked with your feet – which in turn somehow affected the rest of your body. After several treatments I noticed significant improvement in Hannah's condition."

that Reflexology has helped people with back problems, migraine headaches, circulation problems, hearing impairments – and of course, a very common one is stress and tension.

“One of the main reasons that Reflexology is so helpful is that it causes your body to be put into a relaxed state. Your body can only heal when it is in this relaxed mode.”

Married, with two children, Dinah grew up on the Island until moving

Dinah ended up enrolling in the training course in Barrie, Ontario in 2004 and starting her own practice in Southern Ontario. “I have found south in 2002. Two years ago, she returned to her roots, taking up residence on Gawas Bay.

Dinah’s philosophy is echoed by her colleague Debbie Alcock. “I was first introduced to Reflexology when Dinah did a practice treatment on me for her Reflexology course. I was totally hooked after that first treatment!”

In 2005, Debbie took the Reflexology course at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Peterborough and graduated as a Registered Canadian Reflexology Therapist. She is certified for feet and hands, and will soon be certified for ear Reflexology applications as well.

“This is my fourth year providing Reflexology treatments at Island Touch Therapeutic Massage. I work at the Clinic on long weekends, holidays and throughout the summer months. I’ve had great results with Reflexology treatments for PMS, anxiety, Diabetes, circulation and digestive problems.” cites Debbie proudly. Debbie currently lives in Lindsay, where she practices Reflexology part-time, but her primary practice is here on the Island and the nearby North Shore, and she hopes to return here to live permanently in the near future.

PC DOCTOR

by George Skardis

QUESTION: I am planning to purchase a new computer. Is it true that the big box stores charge $100 to prep newly purchased computers? Is this something that I can do and save some money?

ANSWER: Preparation charges for new computers vary from dealer to dealer, but this will add significant dollars to the overall price. Yes, you can easily save a substantial amount by doing-it-yourself. Here's what you will need to do and know to save hard-earned cash. Set aside at least 3 hours or more of quiet time to get your new computer hooked up and running. Connect the computer, LCD monitor, keyboard, mouse, and speakers to begin with. Leave printers, scanners, and other accessories for later. Push power button. Now where did they put that darn thing? The preamble might be lengthy requiring you to press the Enter button numerous times. Select language, time zone, and agree to legal mumbo-jumbo. You can choose to enter your first name or general label such as Home for the initial account. Remember that passwords are optional. Do not interrupt or power off computer during this stage. Make some tea. Grab a book. Stay near and press Next or Enter when prompted. All hell breaks loose when Windows Vista starts up for the first time. Trial offers galore. So many pop-ups, everything starts to blur. Fear not! Cancel and Close. Clear checkboxes that permit pop-ups each time Windows starts, for example, Vista Welcome Center. Go to your Control Panel, Programs to uninstall all that annoying trial software. Under Control Panel, User Accounts turn off the user account control to eliminate bothersome questions. This next step is extremely important: create recovery disks. Computer manufacturers do not supply recovery disks for reinstalling the operating system and essential computer drivers. It's a cost-saving for the manufacturer. The responsibility for creating usable recovery disks rests on your shoulders. You require 2 or 3 DVDs with protective cases, plus a Sharpie CD/DVD permanent marker. Find the recovery disk creator on the main Program menu, in Accessories, or in the manufacturers' add-ins menu. Recovery disk creation is only permitted once, so be careful. Follow prompts and do not interrupt. Mark each recovery disk carefully. Go to Control Panel, Windows Update, and check for new updates. Having high-speed Internet helps. Install anti-virus protection. Install printers and other gadgets. You are good to go!

- 2/3 cup ketchup
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. onion powder
- 1 1/2 Tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 tsp. mustard powder
- 4 - 5 slices bacon, cut into 1" chunks

Method: Rinse beans and cover with water and let soak overnight. Bring to a boil and simmer for 1/2 hour. Drain off liquid and reserve for later. Add all other ingredients and enough of the reserved liquid to cover the beans. Bake at 325 F for 4-5 hours, checking and gently stirring every hour. Add more of the reserved liquid as needed during baking.

A couple were going out for the evening. They got ready, put out the cat, etc. The taxi arrives, and as the couple leave, the cat shoots back in. They don't want the cat in the house, so the wife goes out to the taxi while the husband goes to find the cat. The wife, not wanting it known that the house will be empty explains to the taxi driver "He's just going upstairs to say goodbye to my mother." A few minutes later, the husband gets into the cab - "Sorry I took so long, stupid old thing was hiding under the bed and I had to poke her with a coat hanger to get her to come out!"

Algoma Musician Featured on Soundtrack

Pat O'Gorman, who is known in the Algoma region for co-founding the AlgomaTrad Family Camp with Julie Schryer can be heard playing Irish pipes, called Uilleann (ill-un) pipes, on the soundtrack to the Canadian film One Week which is opening at cinemas across Northeastern Ontario on March 6. One Week stars Joshua Jackson (Fringe, Shutter, Bobby, Dawson's Creek) as Ben Tyler, a young man who flees from the confines of his life—an impending marriage, a job he's not entirely happy with and a recent diagnosis—in order to attempt to live more fully.

O'Gorman has been performing, recording and teaching traditional music since the seventies. He plays Scottish and Irish bagpipes, flutes, and whistles and was last heard in the movies playing Highland bagpipes on the soundtrack for Canadian feature film "Men With Brooms". One Week opens March 6 at a theatre near you. Check it out on the web at www.oneweek.ca
